

Dexstarity

Biography

Dexstarity, Flexstarity, Extra Dextra, Weird God - no matter what name you know him by, the DMV rapper's energetic flows and distinct, high-pitched delivery have made him an instantly recognizable voice in the underground Hip Hop scene. Since his debut mixtape in 2016, Dex has been writing and releasing new music nonstop, growing a small but dedicated fanbase in the process. Dexstarity was born in Brooklyn, New York, where he lived with his mother until the age of nine. He then moved down the coast to Northern Virginia with his father and stepmother, where he spent the rest of his childhood. Music has always been a part of Dex's life; his father was a professional DJ and introduced him to it at a young age. Drawing inspiration from rap legends like Biggie, Das EFX, Jay-Z, Lil Wayne, he soon began writing his own verses.

His first time ever recording a verse was with Ambitious Entertainment in Northern Virginia. He was nervous and didn't understand the recording process, but with the help of Realtalk Rizze and DTTheProducer he found his rap voice, and his confidence as well. He did get laughed out of the booth a few times, but the feeling of hearing his vocals on the final product was priceless. He has been addicted to rapping ever since.

Dex also had the privilege of sitting in on a few studio sessions with Fat Trel of MMG at the now closed MidiEast Studios in Alexandria, VA. Seeing the recording process of a signed artist was an eye-opening experience for him - he discovered that rapping is just as much a career as it is entertainment.

On October 28th, 2016, Dexstarity dropped his first full-length project, titled "G.O.D (Geeked Off Drugs)". The 14-track album featured three guest verses from Jynxvnotti and provided a solid starting point for Dex's future releases. Since then, he has dropped over 20 singles and racked up over a hundred thousand streams on Spotify alone.

Life is short - Dexstarity wants to make the most of every second. He'll do whatever, be whatever, and talk to whoever it takes to make it in the rap game. You can follow him online here:
