

Looking for a little clarity?

Doesn't it seem like life's gotten a little too complicated...that we've got just a few too many things coming at us everyday? More and more people are telling us to do more and more things. The real estate market is flooded with opinions, which seem to do nothing but confuse the issues. More often than not, the hardest questions require simple answers. I might be able to help you through the maze. That's my vision behind "When Home Isn't 1st!"

Principle #8: Do Them Right

A contractual (legal) obligation is a much lower form of obligation than either ethical or moral.

Go above and beyond the "letter of the law or contract" to do what's right.

People Matter; Houses are Incidental.

Although I was unable to purchase a home, Ron kept in contact and "checked in" on me over the past six months or so. When I am again able to search for a home, I will call Ron. He is an absolute pleasure to work with and, I am certain, an asset to Century 21 Superstars.

-Debbie Egland, Placentia

This guy does not sleep. I don't think he even knows what a bed looks like. He is tireless. He is dedicated to his customers. He always makes the time to see you or talk to you. He follows up and is always on top of things.

-Luis and Olga Suarez, Rancho Cucamonga

Ron was completely at our disposal. The extra effort and dedication he put in preparing for each day's search enabled us to look at a large number of properties in a short amount of time.

-David and Kim Clement, Anaheim Hills

MISSION STATEMENT

To redefine success, in Real Estate, in a manner that places people as the highest priority by genuinely respecting, honoring, and protecting them, so that they will be advantaged to make decisions that are the most beneficial to themselves and to their families.

If you feel there's something valuable in the way I practice real estate, I would appreciate it if you would pass this along to your family and friends.
